Figure 6

Figure 6 consists of two panels, (a) and (b), showing the evolution of the system over time. Panel (a) displays the spatial distribution of the system at different times, with labels indicating the time steps. The distribution shows a wave-like pattern moving across the domain. Panel (b) shows the temporal evolution of the system, with labels indicating the time steps. The plot shows a series of peaks and troughs, representing the oscillatory behavior of the system.
